Work is in progress to increase speed skating oval around the terrain, about the center.

Centre to get field facilities

By Bill Hamilton

Work has begun on a new phase in the development of the Centennial Centre. Construction of three new athletic complexes is under way. The first is a new speed skating oval, the second is a new figure skating oval, and the third is a new ice hockey oval.

The construction project is a joint venture between three local governments: the City of Vancouver, the District of Columbia, and the District of Columbia. The project is being funded by the City of Vancouver, the District of Columbia, and the District of Columbia.

Construction will be completed by next June 30, the latest. "We hope to have the second field and the third the month before to allow a year and the speed skating oval ready for the winter," Miles said.

"We do like to have the ground on the field go through the growing season to make sure it is well established," Miles said. "The new project is a joint venture between the three groups and we're looking for a lot of support from the public."

The college is supplying the land and is sharing in the cost of the construction. The college also takes care of the maintenance of the facilities," said Miles.

The speed skating oval is one of the most complex and costly of the three. It will be an oval, 400 meters in length, and will be built on a hillside. The cost of the oval is estimated to be $1.5 million.

The figure skating oval is also a complex project. It will be a 100-meter oval, and will be built on a hillside. The cost of the oval is estimated to be $1.5 million. The ice hockey oval is a 200-meter oval, and will be built on a hillside. The cost of the oval is estimated to be $1.5 million.
